Dear Parent/Carer,

Teach Your Monster are the creators of an award-winning series of games which help children master the key first stages of reading and numeracy. Teach Your Monster were founded 2011 by the Usborne Foundation, established by Peter Usborne CBE.

We're using Teach Your Monster games at school and your child will benefit more from this if they can play at home. The games are free to play on a PC and laptop, or you can download the Teach Your Monster games from the app store for mobiles and tablet.

To play on the website, visit www.teachyourmonster.org and start playing in seconds.

For the website and app you will need to sign up or login with a parent account. You can then use the details on your child's password card to add your child as an existing player to your home account. This will allow the children to play with the same monsters at home as they do in school. Your child's password card will come home today.

If you have any trouble getting started, please let us know.
